

Home lighting choice often between too much and too little!

THE ANSWER comes from the old adage in which it is said that the best government is the one that governs least. When people make the choice of lighting in their homes, the choice is likely to be between a room that is much too dark or much too bright, and they usually opt for the dark room with confidence, but not conviction.

So says Ragan Reynolds, 31, of New York, who is writing a book on lighting in homes. "I've been very disappointed with light," Nancy says. "I can't imagine ever being happy."

The best advice the experts give is to do a little more lighting. Most of the time, lighting is done in a room that is too dark, and the lighting is done in a room that is too bright. The best advice is to do a little more lighting. Most of the time, lighting is done in a room that is too dark, and the lighting is done in a room that is too bright.

"A GOOD GUESS" is to do a little more lighting. Most of the time, lighting is done in a room that is too dark, and the lighting is done in a room that is too bright.

and in front of people on tables are likely to be, but not the people. This can create a pretty, relaxing light for the room.
